

HPERA is up and running

The Hurst Park Estate Residents' Assoc. is now up and running, and is recognised as a "stakeholder" in respect of the G^{tr} Cambridge City Deal proposals. These proposals concern the road developments for Cambridge City and outskirts to combat car congestion, encourage "greener" travel behaviour and facilitate faster bus travel between Cambridge City Centre and outlying regions. Many residents of the Hurst Park Estate appreciate the broad aims of the project but hold that the proposed solutions are destructive to the environment. Moreover, established communities along and near to arterial routes, such as Milton Road are severely threatened.

We seek to persuade City Deal officials of a better way to achieve the same aims, more sympathetic to the environments and more considerate to communities. Acting in the interests of Hurst Park, Orchard, Highfield, Leys and Highworth Avenues, Leys Rd and Mulberry Close, HPERA is currently managed by a temporary Steering Group. The group will oversee business until the end of the current City Deal consultation period, after which a formal establishment process will be conducted.

Inaugural Meeting draws over 150

At the inaugural meeting, held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Mansel Way, on Wed 6th January, over 150 concerned residents squeezed in and contributed to a lively debate about the implications of the proposed Milton Road changes. A wide range of opinions were voiced from concerns about environmental degradation, destruction of communities and the safety of parents, carers and children on school runs to doubts about the validity of underpinning evidence, the apparent changes of proposal from the engineer's draft and concerns about rat-running. A video of the event and the slides presented can be found on HPERA's web site at: www.hpera.co.uk. Many thanks to everyone who contributed to funds at the meeting, and afterwards. Over £190 was raised which will be used for hall hire, printing & paper etc.

HPERA in the Cambridge News

Members of HPERA posed in front of the threatened "Highworth Roundabout" for Saturday's edition of CN to draw attention to one of the key operational and environmental concerns. Replacement of the roundabout with traffic lights is intended to reduce accidents and improve the through-speed of buses. The statistical basis of these claims has been heavily challenged and the unintended consequences for the Hurst Park Estate in terms of car congestion, pollution, noise, danger and inconvenience for those who have no choice but to use cars, is believed to far outweigh the minimal speed advantages for bus riders.

What happened to Do Minimum?

On page 74 of the "Milton Road and Histon Road Corridors Draft Options Report" dated September 2015, there are three development options described: Do Minimum, Do Something and Do Maximum. In the Do Minimum and Do Something options, the Highworth Roundabout is retained as-is and Highworth Avenue left alone.

By the time the grey-ish leaflet passed through residents' doors in December, The Do Minimum option had disappeared altogether, and the Do Something option seems to have undergone an unexpected change in which the Highworth Roundabout is transformed into a set of traffic lights, with no access to Highworth Avenue from Milton Road.

The removal of the roundabout is highly significant since the new traffic lights will have a major effect on traffic levels, pollution, noise and danger in the Hurst Park Estate. Hence, giving residents an effective choice between no roundabout and no roundabout is curious indeed and, it seems, not at all welcome!

What can residents do?

We are in the middle of a consultation period that ends on 15th February. First, please review the City Deal proposal for Milton Road at: www.gccitydeal.co.uk/milton-road. Before the end-date, complete the on-line form or send back your paper form (one form per person). Call 01223 699906 to request more forms, or just copy the one you have.

Also, if you feel that the form does not allow sufficient flexibility to express your views, please write direct to the City Deal team at city.deal@cambridgeshire.gov.uk or by letter to: City Deal Team, SH1311, Shire Hall, Castle Hill, Cambridge CB3 0AP.

Please write direct to your councillors and Council officials – their details are on the HPERA and MRRA websites.

Plus, we will be drafting a submission embodying key concerns and will need help to do so. More on that very soon.

Milton Rd Residents Assoc. (MRRA)

MRRA was the first of the residents associations concerned with the Milton Rd development to be established, and our interests are interrelated. Do look at their website for additional useful information, at:
